Introduction & How to Use This Guide

This directory lists everyday grocery products available in the Bangladeshi retail and online grocery market, organized into 17 categories covering staples, fresh produce, meat and fish, packaged foods, personal care, household essentials, baby care, and health items.

Each entry shows the product name, common brand(s) sold under that name in Bangladesh, the standard retail unit or pack size, and a representative price in Bangladeshi Taka (■), taken as the midpoint of the typical price spread seen across neighborhood shops, supermarkets, and online grocers in Dhaka.

A single figure is shown for simplicity, but grocery prices in Bangladesh fluctuate with season, supply chain conditions, fuel costs, and location, so treat each price as an approximate guide rather than a fixed quote. Where a product is commonly sold in more than one pack size, both are listed as separate rows.

Note: this is a market reference guide, not a live price feed. For same-day prices, check an online grocer (e.g. Chaldal) or your local market directly — prices can shift week to week, especially for fresh produce, rice, and edible oil.

Sources & Methodology

Prices and product listings in this guide were compiled from the following sources:

- Chaldal.com — Dhaka-based online grocery retailer; category and product listings with current prices (accessed July 2026).
- Numbeo — Crowd-sourced cost-of-living and food price data for Dhaka, Bangladesh (accessed July 2026).
- BSS (Bangladesh Sangbad Sangstha) — National news agency market reports on staple food prices, including rice, edible oil, and produce (2026 reporting).
- World Food Programme / World Bank food price monitoring datasets for Bangladesh (subnational market price series).

Methodology: for each category, representative products were selected based on what is commonly stocked and searched for in Bangladeshi grocery stores. A market price range was first identified from the sources above, and the single price shown is the midpoint of that range, rounded to a realistic retail figure. Where a close variant (different pack size or a comparable brand in the same product line) was used to estimate the range, the resulting price is a typical market estimate rather than a single verified quote.

Disclaimer & Notes

- Prices are indicative retail estimates in Bangladeshi Taka (BDT / ৳), shown as a single representative figure, as of July 2026. Actual prices will change over time due to inflation, seasonality, import costs, and local supply conditions.
- Fresh produce (vegetables, fruits, fish, meat) prices are especially volatile and can shift significantly week to week or even day to day.
- Brand names are used to reflect real products commonly available in the Bangladesh market; inclusion does not imply endorsement, and prices for a named brand may differ from the range shown depending on retailer and location.
- This document is intended as a general market reference for budgeting, research, or educational purposes — not as a binding price quotation from any retailer.
